5                   Supreme Court directs courts to apply a two-step process whenever they analyze an 6 entitlement to qualified immunity. First, they are to evaluate whether the officer's conduct 7 violated a constitutional right. Next, they look to whether the constitutional right was 8 clearly established.<sup>1</sup> The trial court found that Ms. Park's rights were violated and that her 9 constitutional rights were well established. Did the court err in so finding?
